NEW CLOSET VAULT ASSEMBLES ANYWHERE IN MINUTES
– WITH NO TOOLS.

Security conscious homeowners need their valuable papers, jewelry, currency and firearms protected against fire and theft. Unfortunately, traditional safes are difficult and costly to move to an ideal location in the home, such as an upstairs room or closet. As a result, not enough safes are purchased and valuables go unsecured.

The SnapSafe Little Titan Closet Vault assembles anywhere in minutes with no tools. Its patented “post & keyhole” assembly system latches together like a ski boot, to give you all the impenetrable security of a conventional welded safe. SnapSafe puts security anywhere you want it, without the hassle of moving a conventional safe. What’s more, with 2300°F ceramic fiber fire shielding and door seals SnapSafe closet vaults help protect firearms, jewelry, currency and valuable papers from fire as well as theft.

The idea was born when third generation safe builder, Edward J. McGunn, and his wife, a gun collector, faced the huge effort and expense of moving a 300 pound safe to the ideal location on the second floor of their home. “Even after all the effort, time and money, it still didn’t end up exactly where we wanted it,” says McGunn. “That’s when I thought of SnapSafe™ – a safe that would come in pieces, each light enough to carry and assemble anywhere.”

The Little Titan Closet Vault is only 30 inches high and under 18 inches deep, so it fits anywhere, even in an upstairs closet, but with none of the hassle and none of the cost of conventional safes. It features American made digital locks with non-volatile memory and commercial grade “non breech seal” dead bolt door systems.

Most important, they can be easily assembled in the most logical area of the home – close by and out of sight. That means they will get used, and that means more valuables protected and more crime deterred.
